

Moate Community School Student to appear in Period Drama

Oisín Foley is a Transition Year student in Moate Community School and has been cast as a Double for young English actor Tyler Kennington who will be behind the portrayal of Albion in the long awaited series Camelot.

Camelot is the latest production from Octagon films to be made in Ireland. It is written by Michael Hirst of The Tudors and Chris Chibnall of Life on Mars. It will air sometime in 2011 and is about the tale of King Arthur and the knights of Camelot as the name would suggest.

The cast includes Jamie Campbell Bower who will be headlining the cast as King Arthur is known for the role of Anthony in Sweeney Todd, Caius in Twilight: New Moon and Gellert Grindlewald in the eagerly awaited Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows.

Joseph Fiennes is also known worldwide because of his portrayal of playwright William Shakespeare in the film Shakespeare in Love and of the fictional character Mark Benford in Flash-forward is set to star as Merlin.

French Actress Eva Green who is also known world-wide due to the hugely successful 2006 bond film Casino Royale will star as Morgana.

The show will also feature many Irish actors and big names from abroad such as Clive Standen from the hugely successful "Hood".

The young Moate man has always had a love of performance and will undoubtedly make his mark in Ardmore Studios in Bray where the production is filmed. Everyone in MCS wishes him well
